BLACK AND WHITE, WHITE AND BLACK!

A school classroom somewhere in the imagination of your choosing.

The teacher held a large square piece of white cardboard in his hand. With glee, he held it up in front of his class of third graders, who were wondering what an earth their exciting teacher was going to spring on them this time!

'Now', he said, can anyone tell me what colour this square is?' 'White, it's white', most of the children screamed with joy! 'Are you sure?' said the teacher. 'Yes', they all screamed again.

'Well, I'm sorry to disappoint you children, but it is in fact, black!'

Some of the children laughed, some louder than others, some children snickered and one started to sob quietly! A few children then looked with shock and a couple of the girls and one boy, said with smiles: 'nah, you ain't fooling us teacher, it's white, pure white in fact!' other children nodded their approval. The teacher was just kidding.

The teacher frowned slightly. 'Well, have it your way, children. This was an important lesson, but maybe y'all ain't ready for it yet! All right, recess now, you can go play!' The children rushed out the door heading for the field and playground outside their classroom.

The Head Teacher walked in after all the happy children had left. 'So how did it go Mr Watkins?' Mrs Karen asked with genuine interest.

'Mmm, well, it will need a bit more time Head, nearly all of them didn't buy it today. But I feel confident after some time, they will get the hang of it. But I think there are going to be at least three 'dissenters' from what I have seen just now.'

'Well, we know what will happen to them, don't we? Ok, well, just keep working on it; we have a few months before the deadline of reporting our results to the Education Council. Once we have got them this early, this year, the younger ones should do even better!'

'Yes, it should be easy-peasey then', Mr Watkins concurred. 'I'm looking forward to it!'

And also just for your encouragement, we have two new children who want to change, you know, sex for want of a better ancient word. That's little Ali, and Susan, both want to start the transfer process as soon as they can. They are quite excited. Of course the board's new policy of keeping this hush hush, just for the school to know is SO wonderful, and makes it all so much easier for us now.

Apart from that, I am looking forward to next week when we can teach them all their new pronouns. I think it will go down well, if we have those specially designed colourful badges. It's going to be a great year! Record-breaking believe. I think we will get increased funding because of all this!'

End of Scene.

Isaiah chapter 5: 20

Woe (judgment is coming) to those who call evil good, and good evil;

Who substitute darkness for light and light for darkness;

Who substitute
bitter for sweet and
sweet for bitter!

21Woe (judgment
is coming) to those who are wise in
their own eyes

And clever and
shrewd in their own
sight!

22Woe (judgment
is coming) to those who are heroes at
drinking wine

And men of strength in mixing
intoxicating drinks,

23Who justify the
wicked and acquit
the guilty for a bribe,

And take away the rights of those who are in the right!
